Tom Grant ushers in the New Year at Cjazz Lounge

Eastside's only jazz supper club will feature more national artists

Kirkland, WA— Dec. 1, 2004 National recording artist Tom Grant and his band will usher in the New Year for the Cjazz Lounge's first New Year's Eve party. To accommodate the crush of Eastside jazz and New Year's aficionados, the Cjazz Lounge -- the Eastside's only jazz supper club -- shifts to the Regency Ballroom in the Hyatt Regency Bellevue.

In a 30-year career featuring 20 albums with several chart-topping songs, pianist Grant has been a mainstay in the smooth jazz genre, appearing as a headliner all over the world.

Grant's appearance underscores the Cjazz Lounge's expanded lineup of national recording artists, noted Michele Abrams, president of Cjazz, which produces and promotes live jazz events. December 9 features Mark McMillen from Los Angeles, longtime keyboardist and vocalist for Bobby Caldwell and a major smooth jazz artist in Japan. Another national recording artist slated to appear at the Cjazz Lounge in 2005 is Marcus Johnson, Washington DC-based keyboard player and president of Three Keys Music.

"Our promise at the Cjazz Lounge is to feature the very best contemporary jazz artists for our fans," said Abrams. "Our lineup features Northwest notables as Tony Gable & 206, Michael Powers and Darren Motamedy along with such national recording artists as Jeff Kashiwa and Tom Grant. No other venue on the Eastside offers this caliber of jazz artists and fabulous food in such an intimate setting."
